Monroe Lorimer, secretary to the state examiner of savings banks, has returned to his home in Newport, after passing several days at Hotel Barre.

Mrs. Bennie Wilber of East Barre was brought to the city this morning in the Whitcomb ambulance. From Barre she was taken to Burlington, where she is to enter a hospital for treatment.

Walter Wood of Dorchester, Mass., who has been spending several days in the city as the guest of E. M. Laws of Wellington street, left this morning for Nova Scotia, where he is to make a week's business visit.

J. Carl Nute of Manchester, N. H., New Hampshire agent for the New England Mutual Insurance Co., and a former resident of Barre, arrived in the city this morning for a week-end visit at the home of his brother, Henry Nute, of the Morse block. Mr. Nute accompanied the crack Manchester bowling team to Barre, his brother, Harold Nute, being captain of the squad that plans to invade Washington, D. At a special meeting of the Vermont Poultry association in the court room at city hall last evening plans were made for the annual meeting and election of officers which is to be held at the city hall on the evening of Friday, Jan. 28. On that occasion a decision will be reached in the matter of where the 1916 show is to be held. Last night directors spoke in commendatory tones of the work of the judges at the recent annual exhibit and it was the unanimous opinion that the services of George P. Coffin of Freeport, Me., and George W. Weed of East Lee, Mass., should be engaged for the next December show. It was also voted to retain the services of Judge Coffin until the end of the show in order that beginners in the poultry business may have the opportunity to question him concerning poultry problems. Reports from several officers indicated that the 1915 show was the most successful in the 10 years of the association's existence.

BOYS BUSY AT CONFERENCE.

About 500 are taking part in the Convention at Rutland.

Rutland, Jan. 15.—It was an inspiring sight to see the assemblage of almost 500 boys and young men gathered in the auditorium of the Congregational church here to-day to attend the sessions of the Old Boys conference which opened last evening, to last through Sunday. Problems of a civic nature which confront these young men, "the flower of Vermont's youth," one speaker called them, as well as spiritual questions were discussed by able speakers who addressed the convention to-day. Although a little time will be devoted to visits to manufacturing establishments, because of their educational features, the boys are attending strictly to business and encouraging reports should be taken back to the churches, Sunday schools, boy scout organizations and Young Men's Christian associations which sent the youths here.

The morning session was taken up to-day with three addresses, there being music interspersed to give variety. James E. West, chief boy scout, gave an instructive address on "The Real Object of Scouting," in which he outlined briefly the history of the organization and showed how the duties expected of the members of the organization are expected to cultivate manliness in a boy. Jared Van Wageningen, Jr., of New York discussed "The Education of the Farm Boy," explaining that the farm boy of the future will not be content with a few weeks in school each year to permit him to learn the three "R's"; he must learn intensive farming. Dr. George J. Fisher of the International Y. M. C. A. committee gave an address on "Physical Efficiency and Success in Life," pointing out that only the young man with a strong body can hope to cope with the smartest competitors and make a success of life.

Dr. John M. Thomas, president of Middlebury college, this afternoon discussed "Sufficient Ideals," in one of his characteristic forceful addresses to young men.

The Poular Conception of an Editor.

In the January American Magazine is the following concerning the prevailing opinion about editors:

"There is a common impression abroad that editors and sub-editors are enormously salaried individuals who go about with splitting headaches putting the paper to press and lighting one cigarette from the end of another. Occasionally they pause to sniff the air for latent scoops, or else they dash down to Washington to lunch with the president."
